

POSSIBLE SIGNS OF SECONDARY (METASTATIC) BREAST CANCER

At Breast Cancer Now, we're committed to supporting GPs like you to better spot the possible signs and symptoms of secondary breast cancer, so that your patients can begin treatment and access supportive care sooner.

You can find the most common symptoms of secondary breast cancer below.

Feeling sick most of the time

Severe or ongoing headaches

A dry cough or feeling out of breath

Not being able to go to the toilet (constipation)

Any lumps or swellings under your arm, breastbone or collarbone

Discomfort or swelling under the ribs or across the upper abdomen

Loss of balance or any weakness or numbness of the limbs

Feeling full quickly when eating or changes to appetite

Feeling much more tired than usual

Altered vision or speech

Unexpected weight loss and a loss of appetite

Feeling bloated

Pain in your bones, for example in the back, hips or ribs, that doesn't get better with pain relief and may be worse at night
